The Leadership Institute-Women with Purpose Launches New Volunteer Program

INDIANAPOLIS—In an effort to improve the experience of its volunteers, The Leadership Institute-Women with Purpose (LI) has launched a new volunteer management program. The comprehensive program allows for volunteers to donate their time and skills to the organization when it is most convenient with their schedules. The program will be managed through The Leadership Institute’s Online Learning Management System (LMS). Volunteers can access resources and online courses on the LMS at any time and from anywhere.

“The Leadership Institute recognizes volunteers are often juggling family, friends, work, hobbies, and other volunteer roles, so we have designed the program to be flexible with volunteer needs,” said Erin Strine, Executive Director. “It is important our volunteers have a valuable experience, so we have developed a streamlined volunteer program with improved efficiency and organization for both volunteers and staff.”

Other components of the new volunteer program include formalized feedback and recognition, a monthly newsletter outlining volunteer opportunities, a volunteer discussion forum, and intentional recruitment practices.

Michele Sampson, current LI volunteer said, “I enjoy The Leadership Institute’s new volunteer program because volunteer projects are clearly defined. I can choose projects that I have the skills to handle and that fit into my schedule.”

LI Volunteer Commitment

The Leadership Institute-Women with Purpose values the role of volunteers. The organization is committed to providing the best possible experience for our volunteers, empowering them to contribute their perspectives, knowledge, and skills at all levels of the organization to help women reach their potential.
